

TRUSTED WORKFORCE & RECRUITING PARTNER FOR YOUR POLYMER OPERATION

Operating a Plastic Recovery Facility (PRF) or polymer operation safely, profitably, and efficiently is complex and demanding. Layer on managing the workforce and the job gets even more difficult. That's where Leadpoint comes in.

Leadpoint has been partnering with recycling facilities across North America for over two decades. Unlike traditional "temp" staffing companies, Leadpoint offers specialized outsourced labor. We integrate a full-time workforce with your team to address labor challenges, improve system efficiency, and maximize waste stream recovery.

Why Choose Leadpoint

- Industry Experience. With a strong background in the recycling industry, we collaborate with your team to align our people, processes, and technology, driving improved safety and productivity.
- Stable and productive teams. Our turnkey model embeds an onsite manager who oversees a dependable, full-time crew of Leadpoint associates you can count on every day, ensuring lower turnover and improved reliability.
- Exceptional material quality. We work to understand your material quality standards and prioritize operations that minimize contamination and maximize the quality of the end product.
- Committed to safety. Our LiveSafeSM philosophy emphasizes life-long training and personal responsibility for safety at work and home, ensuring a healthy and safe environment through continuous safety training and accountability.
- Risk mitigation. Our proven on-the-job experience and outsourced labor model reduce workers' comp, employment, and compliance risks by transferring responsibility to Leadpoint, leading to long-term cost savings and improved site performance.
- Technology-driven performance. We specialize in data-driven workforce optimization through dashboards that track hours, wages, overtime, fill rates, recruiting performance, and other KPIs, enabling comparative analysis on a weekly, monthly, and yearly basis.

Take the Next Step

Connect with a Leadpoint representative today and join other recycling operators that have experienced the benefits of our proven results.

